SECOND DAY OF THE AUTUMN MEETING OF THE CONEY ISLAND JOCKEY CLUB-SLOAN

was almost as hot as in the desert of death. No eze came from the sea. August this week is J. A. Bennett's br. c. Sanford, 11 pitiless, and the heat on the Atlantic coast is violent and destructive in the extreme. The sport was deadly dull, and the attendance was not large. precious starter whom the stewards of the Jockey Club dealt a smashing blow at the pros-perity of the June meeting at Sheepshead Bay by field at the post for nearly an hour. On Tuesday this same starter dealt a grievous blow at the prosperity of the autumn meeting at Sheepshead Bay by keeping the Futurity field at the post for Bay by keeping the Futurity field at the post for nearly an hour and a half. His appalling incompetency on Tuesday resulted in actual cruelty to the many thousands of suffering spectators and to the immature and half-developed colts and filles which endured torments during the inexcusable delay in the exeruciating heat. The spectators writhed in anguish while this incompetent starter delayed the start for eighty-eight minutes in one of the hottest and most harassing afternoons of the year. If the stewards of the Jockey Club are the year. If the stewards of the Jockey Club are not enterprising and energetic enough to engage a competent starter, then racing in this part of the United States ought to be abolished at an early date. The present starter was formerly one of the swiftest, most accurate and most efficient telescript operators who ever came out of Canada. As a telegraph operator be was worthy of unstinted praise. As a starter he has made it clear in the Suburban and Futurity and other races.

As a telegraph operator everybody had pleasant things to say about him. Everybody had pleasant things to say about him. Everybody declared: a say telegraph operator be as just the right man in just the right place. But in an evil hour for the comfort, beace of mind and happiness of the people who go to the Jockey Club racetracks this unblemished and guileless and perfect telegraph operator began to aspire to other things. Be gan to chetch a voic Club racetracks. The best of telegraph operators might be the worst of starters. This flawless and unspotted telegraph operator has about as much fliness to start Suburban fields and Flutrity fields as he has to trim. It was a when later. The action of this hot-headed and foolish starter on Futurity Day in zetting down Sloan and Clawson and some other jockeys for several days was apparently overruled, as Sloan and Clawson had several mounts yesterday, but neither Sloan nor Clawson won a zace. Sloan was second on St. Lorenzo in the second race, was third on Miss Miriam in the fourth race and fourth on Tut Tut in the fifth race.

Lorenzo in the second race. Was third on accombinate in the fourth race and fourth on Tut Tut in the fifth race. Sloan's rival, Maher, who is riding far better than Sloan at present, won two races, the third on Merry Prince and the fourth on Bendoran. But the incompetent starter was extremely kind to Bendoran and Maher, Bendoran got an unfair start, a flying start, far in from of the others, and kept the lead all the way. With a fair and even start Bendoran would have been beaten by Swiftmas and Miss Mirlam, who ran second and third. Is there no conceivable way of persuading this incompetent starter to give up starting and to go back to his tap, tap, tapping on his telegraph key?

incompetent starter to give up starting and to go back to his tap, tap, tapping on his telegraph key?

Sloan's riding yesterday was ghastiy in every race in which he rode. Maher rode so much better than Sloan that there was no comparison between them. Sloan looked weak, thin and pallid, and his riding in every instance was wretchedly thin, weak and pallid. Sloan ought not to stay up nights fightling the tiger. He ought to get more sleep. He needs at least ten hours of good sound hard sleep every night. He leads an extremely exhausting life. Wicked gossip is affoat to the effect that good. Thus little is left to describe beyond the sensation produced as one favorite after the needs at least ten hours of good sound hard sleep every night. He leads an extremely exhausting life. Wicked gossip is affoat to the effect that good. Thus little is left to describe beyond the sensation produced as one favorite after the otok of look at tender cigars and tough southrettes. This is a foul slander on a jockey who combines the joint virtues of Joseph of Egypt and St. Andrews of Padua. Possibly Sloan may like to glance now and then at a tender southerte or a tough rough of Padua. Possibly Sloan may like to glance now and then at a tender southerte or a tough prince was the only successful favorite. The bookmakers piled up enormous profits on the Futurity on Tuesday. It was a day of disaster for backers of favorites, for not one of them caught the judge's eye first. The last race was particularly mortifying to them, as it was won by one of the rank outsiders, ridden by the little colored boy. Dupee, who also won the first race, while Powers rode the winners of the other three. Holland's pair, Hold Up and Hop Scotch, were most favored in the initial race for maiden two-year-olds, but Fantasy, who made her debut in this race, ran in front air the way, and finally won by a length and a half, with the Holland pair second and third. President Muckenfuss, who is now also the receiver of the club, stated to-night that there is no money at hand to pay the overadue salaries of the players. The players have agreed to wait till after Sunday's game, in hopes of a large attendance.

Mr. Muckenfuss says that unless enough money is taken in next Sunday to meet the salaries of the players an appeal to the National League for that purpose will have to be made, and that means the forfeiture of the franchise. He says the club is absolutely without funds, and that nothing was made on the recent Eastern trip, and that the gate receipts are depended upon to pay salaries.

Nine of the twelve clubs voted to do justice to Holmes. As New-York and Baltimore could not vote, it was practically unanimous.

The troubles of the St. Louis club may furnish the league the necessary loophole to reduce the circuit to eight clubs. It will be a good thing for baseball when this comes to pass.

Baltimore not only gave Cincinnati a sound thrashing yesterday, but passed the Porkopolitans in the League race.

The Louisville team is slowly but surely closing the gap between itself and the Brooklyn team. With poor hall-playing in Brooklyn and gross mis-management in Manhattan, the local enthusiasts have little to build their hopes upon.

MEETING OF THE HON, CHARLES RUSSELL AND THE CHALLENGE COMMITTEE OF THE NEW-YORK YACHT CLUB. In the office of J. Pierpont Morgan, commodore

Russell, representing Sir Thomas Lipton and the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, formally met the Chal-lenge Committee of the first-named club yester-Royal Ulster Yacht Club, formally met the Challenge Committee of the first-named club yesterday afternoon. Those of the committee present besides Commodore Morgan were Secretary J. V. S. Oddle, Treasurer F. W. J. Hurst, Edward M. Brown and H. R. Duryea. General Charles J. Paine has declined to serve on the committee. The cause assigned was not made public by Secretary Oddle, who said that no one had been named to replace General Paine on the committee.

Mr. Russell, who left the meeting after half an hour's talk, declined to say anything, on the ground that it would be improper for him to reveal what took place at the meeting. He said he was well pleased at the manner in which he was received by the committee. He was going direct, he said, to Sands Point, Long Island, where he is the guest of W. Bourke Cockan, After the departure of Mr. Russell from the meeting the committee remained in session for more than half an hour, after which Secretary Oddle said.

"Mr. Russell expressed himself quite freely with reference to what is expected by the Royal Ulster Yacht Club. He is perfectly satisfied with the way in which things are preceeding, all of which he is willing to leave in our hands."

The subject of a clear course, Mr. Oddle said, was merely touched upon, and no mention whatever had been made, he said, to the Dunraven affair in connection with the last international contest for the America's Cup. The committee was prepared and ready to receive the Lipton challenge the moment the committee of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, which was due here next week, saw fit to present it. Prompt action would then be taken. The dimensions of the Shamrock, the cinillenging bont, were not referred to in any way. The next meeting of the committee is subject to the call of the commodore.

Mr. Russell will remain at Sands Point probably until Monday next, when he will return to the Pifth Avenue Hotel, where he will have his headquarters. poned from the last series. Manamaters Furniture and Friends

THIS business is only twenty-one I months old. It is a young business, but it has already a large regular constituency. Prominent among our original plans is the August Furniture Sale. A great collection of high-grade furniture that is sold at one-third off market prices. It is aside from and additional to our regular stock.

This occasion is bringing a vast number of friends to this old Stewart store, so many, indeed that the August venture has proved a great success in the volume of sales. The profits remain in our customers' pockets.

All the sorts of furniture that have been described in our daily store news await you; to-day we give a few suggestions upon Dining Tables and their prices. Fiftyfive sorts in stock-prices vary from $3.50 to $100.
